EXAMINER'S RESPONSE

1. In response to the application filed 1-20-00, the application has been examined. The examiner has considered the presentation of claims in view of the disclosure and the present state of the prior art. And it is the examiner's opinion that the claims are unpatentable for the reasons set forth in this Office action:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 & 103

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 4. Claims 1-3, 5-10, 12-17 and 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Holmes (US 5668852).

Regarding claims 1, 8 and 15 Holmes discloses a paging system, method and network infrastructure with auxiliary information collector including decoding equipment 24 for extracting caller associated information (CAI) datum such as caller ID, and auxiliary information transmitter that automatically transmits the CAI to a pager. Answering equipment 20, decoding equipment 24 and messaging equipment 26 function as a calling center to handle incoming calls. See col. 3 line 25col. 4 line 41 and figs. 1-2. Regarding claims 2, 9, and 16 caller ID information is received from an ANI transmission of the local telephone switching system or PSTN. Regarding claims 3, 10 and 17 prompting the paging party for CAI is in col. 4 lines 35-41. Regarding claims 5,12 and 19 the CAI includes names, addresses and telephone numbers in col. 2 lines 34-38. Also, telephone numbers include area code and local exchange corresponding to location. Regarding claims 6, 13 and 20 a database in included in col. 4 lines 15-26 and col. 4 line 56 col. 5 line 7. Buffer 32 may also be considered a database. Regarding claims 7, 14 and 21 an alphanumeric page is specified in col. 1 line 61-67.

5. Claims 4, 11 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holmes (US 5668852) as applied above in combination with Chen (US 5592531), Aas (US 5940740) or Taskett (US 6044247).

Chen (col. 3 lines 1-35), Aas (col. 3 line 60 -col. 4 line 19) and Taskett (col. 4 lines 12-42) disclose analogous art paging systems, methods and infrastructures with voice recognition of input from a paging party as an alternative to input by DTMF from dialing or ANI so that the paging party simply speaks the desired information to the call controller. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have included the voice recognition of Chen, Aas or Taskett in system, method and infrastructure of Holmes applied above as an obvious alternative to the inputs of Holmes, because Holmes includes voice instructions in col. 1 lines 35-40 and because this would allow input by simply speaking the information by the paging party. Claims 5, 12 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holmes (US 5668852) as applied above in combination with Taskett (US 6044247) or Henderson (US 6278862).

Taskett (col. 8 lines 7-29 and fig. 6B) and Henderson (col. 12 lines 1-15 and fig. 6) disclose analogous art paging systems, methods and infrastructures with caller information including location. If location is given weight and not clear from Holes, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have included the location information of Taskett or Henderson in the system, method and infrastructure of Holmes applied above as a caller ID suggested by the various CAI of Holmes.

7. Claims 6, 13 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holmes (US 5668852) as applied above in combination with Taskett (US 6044247) or Laufmann (US 6192218).

Taskett (col. 4 lines 42-56 and fig. 1) Laufmann (abstract) disclose analogous art paging systems, methods and infrastructures with caller information stored in a database associated with the call controller or center. If it is not clear that the database of Holmes is associated with the call center, then it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have associated or located the database of Holmes at the call center as disclosed in Taskett or Laufmann for storing calling party information associated with the paging system.

8. Claims 7, 14 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Holmes (US 5668852) as applied above in combination with Pepe (US 5742668).

Pepe disclose analogous art paging system, method and infrastructure with various mobile communication subscribers disclosed in col. 5 lines 18-30 and shown in fig. 1 as pager 34, cellular phone 32 or personal digital assistant (PDA) 30. If cellular phone and PDA are given weight, then it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have included the PDA and cellular phone of Pepe in the system, method and infrastructure of Holmes applied above as variations of the alphanumeric pager mobile subscriber of Holmes.
